

Hollywood Life

YOUR CELEBRITY NEWS,
GOSSIP & STYLE BFF
by Bonnie Fuller

April 14, 2010

EXCLUSIVE! Jill Zarin Wants To Be Friends With Bethenny Frankel Again: 'I've Already Said Sorry Many Times!'

Bethenny — Jill misses you and she says she's ready to forget the past — but are you ready to move on, too?

Who would have thought that The Real Housewives of New York City's Jill Zarin would be the first to say sorry? Well, that's the case between her and ex-BFF, Bethenny Frankel. We caught up with Jill at the launch party for her new book, Secrets of a Jewish Mother at Zarin Fabrics in NYC on April 13, and she told HollywoodLife.com exclusively, "I've already said sorry many times" to Bethenny!

Jill and Bethenny grew apart and then began feuding last year when Bethenny met and began a whirlwind love affair with new boyfriend / now husband Jason Hoppy. Tensions between the two housewives have heated up to say the least, during season three of their show. In last week's episode, Bethenny did make an attempt to patch things up with Jill but she went about it in the wrong way – a surprise confrontation at Housewife Ramona Singer's house! No surprise- it was a disaster. No one, least of all Jill, likes to be caught off guard!

Season three wrapped up filming months ago, and now Jill tells us she's finally ready to forgive Bethenny and move on. She misses her onetime BFF and wants to make amends.

But we'll have to wait a few more episodes before we see things calm down on the show itself. "I've gotten the s**t kicked out of me and tomorrow is not going to be any better," Jill says of an upcoming episode. "It's another beat up Jill night. ... The story hasn't unfolded yet. There's still many more episodes to come. You haven't seen the entire Jill story."

We can't wait, and we hope Bethenny reaches out an olive branch too!